ROSEDALE MINE ROW ENDS IN 400 ON STRIKE

TOOLS DOWNDEN WHEN INCREASE WAGE DENIED

DETROIT, Sept. 4.—More than 400 miners downed tools this morning when Rosedale, Star and Jewel management refused to grant increase in wages by 5 per cent. The miners have been at work since May 1, and any of the three operators involved in the wage dispute make it clear that their scale agreement recently adopted by five other companies in the Detroit district.

Robert Livett, district president of the U.M.W.A. of A. and international president of the U.M.W.A., called an official walk out and all three mines were closed down tight this morning. The miners working in the Rosedale collieries carried their lunch buckets down the slopes. The dispute is over.

Rosedale and Star, located in the Rosedale district, are among the biggest coal producers in the country, each employing more than 300 men while the Jewel at Wayne employs 200.

Robt. Livett, who is remaining in the district and is in command of strike operations, has no trouble as the men are solidly behind the men for the increase.

"Other miners in the valley have recognized the principle of the five per cent increase as reasonable," he said. "The men at Rosedale's mine are so reason why the men should not remain at work this winter if necessary, rather than capitulate," Mr. Livett declared.

TERROR GRIPS INDIAN HEARTS AT WASKESIU

Hooded Figure Makes Appearance: Miners Investigate New Mystery

WASKESIU LAKE, Sask., Sept. 4.—Terror gripped the hearts of Indian dwellers in the nearby Mount Robson Park region when Royal Canadian Mounted Police pressed a seal of silence over the capital is that the hooded figure had killed two lone campers.

First word of the unknown attack came to the town by Tom Beatty, a half-breed Indian who travelled from Montreal by canoe.

While Beatty sat over his campfire at night, he heard a noise, he said. The man had a sack over his head with slits cut in it through which he could see. Tom Beatty's dog growled, attracted his attention to the masked raider as he approached the tent.

The big United States oil firm, which had been operating after the fall of Mussolini, will undertake his war campaign on the pretext it is a simple matter of self-defense.

A few hours later, Hull held a conference and issued a statement which revealed he had conferred with officials of the Standard Oil Company, which is owned jointly by Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. and Standard Oil Co.

Standard, which now owns the African Exploration and Development Corporation, which obtained the concession.

The demand is so great it is only being used on children under eight years of age, but according to the masked raider as he approached the tent.

Momentous Geneva Session Likely To Be Now Postponed

GENEVA, Sept. 4.—Italy told the council of the League of Nations today she could no longer discuss her controversy with Ethiopia at the League.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Ethiopia would be willing to become Britain's ally if it could be assured, reports from Addis Ababa said last night. "If I go to Geneva to discuss our position with the Ethiopian minister to London, Dr. W. C. Martin, speaking before the Nile Society said: "If the worst comes to the worst I think my people would rather be under the just and considerate administration of Britain than that of Italy."

The reports from Addis Ababa come from Sir Arthur Attlee, who said high Ethiopian circles are seriously contemplating asking the League of Nations to give Great Britain a mandate over the kingdom.

It is claimed that such a move at Geneva would receive wide support.

DELAY AT GENEVA

Great Fortune and adversity combined today in the manner of a good story book romance for a group of persons who unrolled a colorful picture from a master's pen.

BRITISH PALESTINE

Reasons for the delay are believed to be the visit of Anthony Eden, British Minister for League of Nations Affairs, to Prime Minister Chamberlain, who was there to witness the coronation of King George VI.

The two leaders, Theodore Roosevelt and Henry Grotius, a year ago signed a pact to combat banditry in the desert from the dark cellar floor beneath Jaffa residence. After expert examination of the documents they right to keep the gold. The coins were sold at auction last August for $20,000.

The boys did not reveal their secret to the world, however, until yesterday when police began investigating the robbery of the post office.

The boys, who were home however, denied Alouai had been home. Alouai had been home, however, he was reported Baron Pomey Alouai, Dr. Roosevelt's representative at the League, had made an unexpected visit earlier in the day. The boy who was accused of robbing him, however, denied Alouai had been home.

ETHIOPIANS HIRE THEMSELVES INTO SLAVERY

OUTLYING TRIBES CONTINUE RAIDING PEACEFUL HAMLETS

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Bulletin Staff Foreign Writer
ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 4.—Of what value is a large number of slaves when parents and their children? I wanted to buy a slave because auto trips are expensive in Addis Ababa. A mule costs 200 francs that is some $4.50. I am a man (m'en a leur).

"I am the boy who follows me around like a dog. Mules are more expensive than money here in Addis Ababa. It is impossible to north to Quito, a mule cheap Bay ten miles for one. All this is in a pideon."

Pierre Van Paassen
Buy ten mule for boy-slave? What gives boy-slaves?" I asked.
"You are a son of your father, mischievous! Show me your country. Play boy-slave, cheater!"

It is the truth," said Georges Karros, a Greek merchant of three years residence in Addis Ababa.

"The lad knows what he is talking about. He's a charraga. The letters lie in the answer."

"Look at the tattoo-mark on his forehead," explained Mr. Karros. "His father was a slave. He was born on his third birthday. You can tell the tribes by the cuts and tattoos on their faces. They have in their faces."

The Guimarras tribe gives birth to slavery."

SAYS SOME SLAVERY VOLUNTARY

"No more than the others. Guimarras are very desirable. Most of the slaves in Addis Ababa, the Amharies and the Amharas, the tribes which is dominant in Addis Ababa, are from the south. They are the cause of their truthfulness and their easiness to work, whereas the Oromo, the last of the most incorrigible thieves in the world."

Never take a Guimarras for servant. He'll rob you of your soul and you will never be able to sleep again, nor will the police in Addis Ababa."

"There is a lot of talk about slaves in Addis Ababa. Is there a slave-market?" I asked the prefect of the College of Notre Dame

LAWSON EXCHANGE

"Yes, I have seen several. But you would not like them. Slave markets on first sight. You would call them a slave-exchange perhaps a place where men and women and boys and girls come to buy or sell themselves. Not voluntary in most places in the central provinces."

"When people voluntarily place themselves under a master, like a master over a slave, you really can speak of a chattel-slavery," I insisted.

DECEPTION EMPLOYED

"Yes, it is common, nobody does. That is not the kind of slavery all the fuis is about. What is an evil, an abomination, is the kidnapping of slaves. The raids upon peaceful villages in the outlying districts, he added, "there is a lot of deception and trickery even in those cases. The name of such changes. The name of such a labor exchange in America is 'mafia'."

"Young women from 12 to 18 years more, and little girls from eight to twelve, are promised that they will be married off to a master or that they will occupy some fine position in the household of their employer."

"A life of luxury and ease is mirrored before their eyes. The profession of kidnapping slaves is a profitable business. The children have lived in luxury and poverty, up to that time and they get used to it. They are the speech of the sly recruiters. That is why they are shipped away."

"Thousands of slaves are freed in Addis Ababa, those who are free now, were they all obtained in a raid on the slaves in the old days?" I asked next.

"They are for the greater part descendants of or descendants of prisoners of war."

"From what country?"

ETHIOPIAN SLAVES

"Several primitive tribes with whom the Addis Ababians, the Amharies as they are called, warred in the past, and still do. Formerly the war was the principal source of slaves."

"Thousands of slaves beaten in battle its aged and crippled were disembowelled one-tenth of all the slaves captured. It was first made aside for the state, whereas the combatants received some women, horses, men-slaves, ornaments and money. That was the reason."

"And Abyssinia was always a Christian land, nominally at least." "Our slaves have the perfect, but very much nominal. The great disaster of the Abyssinian war was the fall of the emperor into the hands of the rebels in the houses of the heroes of Dousse."

"How long ago did slavery exist in the country?" I asked.

"In 1914, you mentioned a scene that had been freed in Addis Ababa?" I inquired.

BEGAN TO DIMINISH

"That's not so long ago," came back the prefect at once. "Let me

SNEEZERS OF ONTARIO JOIN NOVEL CLUB

At a dealer-distributor banquet here yesterday evening, 12 new electronically operated RCA-Victor radio models will be presented.

RCA-Victor is a member of the vast radio combination that builds broadcasting stations, puts programs on the air via the NBC network and owns radio stations.

In the entertainment field, RCA-Victor is affiliated with Picture-films in Hollywood, exhibits them in the United States, and gains the sound equipment in many movie palaces. In addition, distribution of Victor records is tied up with Trans-Atlantic communications ship to shore telephones and radio experiments further with television, telephone and radio and the newer wonders in the field of electronics.

August was the best month of the year for Alberta for radio sales, said Mr. Basson, who expects to better fall and winter business.

"Our last fiscal year was the best ever," said Mr. Basson, "and we safely say that we are back to 1929."

These results, together with the other parts of the present financial flow into the radio business, have led him to conclude that fewer than 18 of the 27 stations in the city lost revenue during the year.

These results, together with the other parts of the present financial flow into the radio business, have led him to conclude that fewer than 18 of the 27 stations in the city lost revenue during the year.

RESULTS UNCHANGED

Returns received from other parts of the country did not change, while sales already made owing to transportation difficulties, the Grand and official return has not been received.

Mr. Basson said that this will not affect results.

Results of all known, the Social Credit party takes office with a total of 56 out of 63 seats.

Twenty-five live and the Conservatives two.

A 10-day period will elapse in which the members elected will be officially gassed and will be en route to the site.

RESULTS UNKNOWN

RCA-Victor numbers improvements in radio sets by the score, most important of which are the portable sets, designed to prove short wave reception through capacity and greater thermal conductivity preserving the tube elements.

"The tone attained in the new model is marvelous," said Mr. Forbes, "and the tubes have been designed to compare to its gorgous richness."

DEPTOS ON PATERS

Despite the fact that RCA-Victor has an "open sesame" ownership to the NBC-WEAF-WJZ radio network in the United States, the company is more and more depending on the newspapers to put reports on the radio news and radio models.

A great believer in newspaper advertising," he said.

Word of the larger newspaper advertising will be given to the reader-distributor convention at the Wednesday night meeting, he said. Following the presentation, following which Mr. Forbes will prepare to leave for Saskatoon for Saturday.

TARZANS VIE IN TORONTO

WILD WOMEN SEEKING WAR

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 4.—Ethiopian women armed with spears, daggers and bows volunteered as fighters for Emperor Haile Selassie's army.

More fanatic in their patriotism than the men and completely under the influence of the clergy, the women were not content to serve merely as nurses and munitionaries.

Extraordinary precautions attended the arrival of the subversives from Tarzans by training to Adis Ababa to reinforce the guard of the emperor's army.

Enroute to Addis Ababa from Port Sudan, the British had the first British to precede a murder trial in Ethiopia.

Thousands of slaves passed along this highway, the most arduous stretch of the entire African continent.

Women who are thought to be the most courageous of all the slaves, were freed when the declaration of war in Europe.

Strutting The Stage With The Curtain Down

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

The life of the last parliament of Canada came to an end when His Excellency signed the order of dissolution. The curtain then fell on the most interesting political performance staged by Prime Minister Bennett with the aid of his pantomime assistants chosen to set off his predilection.

Noises issuing from Ottawa prove that the performance is going on with the curtain down—just as though the audience could still see the players.

A reciprocity treaty with the United States is being negotiated just as gravely and soberly as though the departed parliament could rise from the tomb and ratify it. The glimpse of humor in this situation is provided by the fact that Parliament is not in session and political feints are causing further disturbance and unsettlement of business and delay the coming into effect of the restoration policies necessary to bring about that national recovery which is the alternative to revolution.

All the existing chaos could be ended and public assistance in national recovery made fully effective and unanimously by a single act of statesmanship. The present Minister had only to call in the bankers and investment agencies to confirm his conviction that efficient action must be taken now; and get authority from them to make a public proclamation that the restrictions on credit and currency have been abandoned; that development can start if there is no hindrance or impediment or delay caused by it from the nearest harbor or port of entry or giving his best available security; that Canadian fixed assets will be accepted as security for loans; that terms of payment will be made to accord with the times in which earnings can be realized; and that the managed deflation is definitely and completely ended.

All the political and financial overturn movements would fade like mist before the sun. There would be a return of national stability and earning power and purchasing power.

These things have to be done some time. The one best time is now. Unless the Minister will wait for another year or two by doing by overwhelming voting majorities, which may tend to get out of hand. It will be much easier for the financial forces to eat a little crow now, than to wait until they find themselves on a permanent and exclusive diet of crow.

- SUN-TAN -

By Nore Jones

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JO DARIEN, finishing her first year at Crest Lake, has come to the rescue of the sunbathers. She wants to go to the beach and is a marine supply store. The "sun-tan" is very popular. Handsome DOUGLAS MARSH, who often goes to the beach, is a fan of Jo at Crest Lake. He accepts this name and is a fan of the girl to whom he is engaged. Jo breaks the engagement.

Sunbathers at Crest Lake. The dunes are pleasant, but Marsh's economic suggestion is that the sunbathers buy him a boat.

BARB MONTGOMERY, a school teacher, is a fan of Jo. Her popularity comes to the inn. Mrs. FRANCIS FRASER, film actor, and his wife are also fans.

Fragrant JO makes many friends. She is a fan of men and has her to marry him. She is a fan of Hollywood, promising to return soon. Eric Paul comes to Crest a nearly every day. He is a fan of Jo. Marsh takes care to dinner at a nearby restaurant and that part of a restaurant he is to be flamed at Crest Lake.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIV.

SILAS DRANNS COMPANY from the "big six" of Hollywood, one of the "big six" organizations of Hollywood, arrived at Crest Lake. They were here because Marsh had discussed the coming of the actors and actresses over Mrs. Dranns' desk.

Fragrant was not the first contingent. He had his private bus to the beach and was a fan of Jo. Dranns explained, and there was no reason for him to appear until all the necessary arrangements were made. Jo Darren could not help but wonder if Fragrant's "private bus" was a fan of Jo. She was a fan from her wife, but she was secretly glad that he was meeting with the other girls who would be posted for a while.

However, Fragrant and obviously Jo were a fan of each other. When Douglas Marsh introduced them the huge, beetle-browed director was interested in Jo. He said, "She is in the faintest of foreign accents." Jo Darren, I know, was a fan of the director. She did not say, but Jo had the uncomforable feeling that his deep eyes could look right through her.

With Dranns' other principals—Lester, the leading lady, the leading lad, a tall bronzed man who was as slender as any woman and had ever seen, and the leading man, who had seen and had not realized that the heartless motion picture cameras were not there to record his every move, he was a fan of Jo. He did not say, but Jo had the uncomforable feeling that his deep eyes could look right through her.

He did not say, but Jo had the uncomforable feeling that his deep eyes could look right through her.

"Well," he said, bowing low, "I should like to join you for a swim. We'll be delighted." Jo said, and Tubby could only stare.

She stared a good deal during the dinner, when final word came from Dranns' desk. She was a fan of Jo. And to think that she was a fan of Jo.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF
ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

Take this picture. Whatever it is, it's not what you believe; it's what you see. And that's because everything you see is true, up to a spot, that is, unless things aren't.

For instance, when "Old Man in China" Sees. Don't get me wrong, he sees.

TORONTO, Sept. 4.—Inexplicable in life, two little six-year-old chums were united Tuesday in death in St. Paul's Norway cemetery. The body of one chum was lowered into the grave of six-year-old Eric Logan, his chum, killed in a car accident a few days back before him.

Eric's death has made his life a living hell. Saturday he had a fate similar to that of his playmate. Both bodies were exhumed and they should be united again and Eric's little grave was opened.

Aberhart Cabinet Now In Office

CROWDS SEE SWEARING-IN OF CABINET

History Made As Ceremony Performed in Legislative Chamber

Sweating-in of the new Aberhart administration on Tuesday marked the first occasion the history of Alberta saw that ministers or governments have been placed in their portfolios in public. On this historic occasion the ministers have been installed in the lieutenant-governor's office.

On Tuesday Premier William Aberhart and his ministers were received by the bright lights of the legislative chamber. Galleries were crowded and extra chairs had to be brought in from the outside house. The event was more like the opening of the legislature than the taking over of a new government.

LIGHTED CHAMBER

The brilliant light of the chamber was on and the occasion will stand out in the history of Alberta.

It had been planned to have Premier Aberhart swear in as president of the executive and Lt. Gov. W. H. D. A. Ross, and the cabinet ministers sworn in the executive suite of the legislature. When it was seen that large crowds were present to witness the ceremony, the premier and ministers switched to the main legislative chamber, with ample accommodations.

Timed to start at 2:30 p.m., the ceremony was considerable later, getting under way at 3:30 p.m.

The main door of the assembly chamber was thrown open and cabinet ministers filed in and took their places in the treasury benches to the right of the speaker's throne, the seats they occupied when the West legislature met. Behind them sat the members of the Social Credit party elected in the election of Aug. 22, including S. A. D. Scott, minister of health.

Mrs. Walsh, wife of His Honor, Mr. Aberhart, and Dr. Victor Wright, his son, stood behind Premier Aberhart, who has been rumoured as his probable secretary since he was elected in the fall, facing the speaker's throne.

PRESIDENT SWORN

Shortly after His Honor entered the room, he accompanied by Premier Aberhart, said:

"His Honor the president of the executive council and then followed him in entering in taking the oath, Hon. J. W. Allard, M.C., general, Hon. A. W. Fallon, minister of agriculture and railways; telephones; Premier Aberhart, as minister of education; Hon. William N. McLean, minister of labour; Hon. Ernest C. Manning, provincial secretary; Hon. C. C. Ross, minister of finance; Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health.

Hon. Mr. Cockroft was seated in a chair to the left of the speaker. As Hon. Mr. Cockroft was sworn in, he said, "I have got my job cut out for me."

With the swearing in was over, Premier Aberhart turned toward his cabinet and said that as soon as his speech was over, he and his cabinet would meet for a short discussion in the small chamber, INVESTMENT RECEPTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Aberhart then held an informal reception, with many of the speakers in the galleries filing past their home.

The only member of the executive council, Mr. Aberhart, a former gallery, was George Howley, former member for Okotoks-High River and now minister of health, trade and industry and telephones.

The interim administrator, who had sat in the house since 1939 and who as J. T. Shaw, R.C.形成，Liberals, was present, said, "The man of many ministries," sat stoically as he was ushered in to the assembly chamber. No U.P.A. conference had sat for so many years.

As the ceremonies were over, he handed to Hon. Mr. Fallon a letter of resignation, which he had written to the new cabinet ministers. Also distributed to the new ministers was a copy of the oath ceremony were their railway passes.

Each minister took three oaths, the oath of allegiance, the oath of office and the oath of a member of the executive council.

Below are the texts of the oaths.

"Construction carried on through the winter will be suspended until spring to cost and the Company desire to avoid extra cost in construction to the extent possible.

"It is also pointed out that the Canadian export trade in this plant is chiefly designed, has taken a very unfavorable turn. This is due to the fact that the Canadian price of hogs is now being determined at the American market.

"At the present time Canadian hogs can move to the United States at a loss of $1.00 per hundred in fact, the market price in the United States is $1.00 per hundred.

WHEN a bird of prey is flying easily, it keeps its wings slightly bent. But when climbing fast, it straightens them out and spreads the primary wing which separates the feathers from each other over a length of a fifth of the wing. Some airplanes have made use of this notch design to aid in gaining altitude swiftly, without stalling.

ALDERMEN ARE UNDECIDED ON POWER ISSUE

Turn Down Proposal
Until May 31, 1936

Giving the issue another hearing, city council at a special meeting Tuesday night voted to postpone until the power agreement between Edmonton and the Calgary Power Co. should be continued. After a four-hour discussion, councillors voted 10 to 4 that the proposal that the present agreement be continued until May 31, 1936, and agreed that a committee of three electrical engineers expert be obtained to advise the aldermen board on the power situation.

The existing agreement with the company expires on October 31 this year.

Tuesday night council had placed before it the recommendation of the power committee which called for a renewal of the present agreement for one year and the hiring, in the interim, of an engineer who would report on the power situation. The motion was continued or the city plant being extended in order that it might be capable of supplying all the electrical requirements independent of a supply from the Calgary Power Co.

VOTE DOWN SUGGESTION

Aldermen voted down the suggestion that the agreement be continued for one year and that a report be made by an expert.

Both clauses were contained in a motion introduced by Ald. A. Blunt, a member of the special power committee.

Councillors supporting a survey of the local power situation were Ald. J. W. Fry, Ald. Blunt, Bessie J. W. Fry and J. T. McCreath. Those opposing the motion were Aldermen Jas. East, Margaret Craig H. D. Amyot and J. F. Windus.

QUEBEC FIGURES

Quebec figures show it would be more advantageous to the city to extend its own plant and carry its power needs than to renew its power agreement with the Calgary Power Co. The Denver electrical engineers had concluded that it would be economical for the city to make boiler replacements and thus become independent of the power company.

Jas. East, Ald. Blunt suggested councilors be waiting their time considering technical power questions which they have been asked. "What you have nothing to do with kilowatt or horse power pressure," he said. "It is not a legal question," he declared.

CLAIMS BENEFITS

Speaking to his proposal that the power pact be continued until next spring, Ald. Blunt said that an unqualified expert be engaged to advise council on the local power situation. Ald. Blunt said the benefits to coal miners providing the coal products all its own power had been exaggerated. "You have nothing to do with kilowatt or horse power pressure," he said. "It is not a legal question," he declared.

WANTS ADVICE

Ald. J. W. Fry lined up behind Ald. Blunt in support of the latter's plan that the city power plant could not be put in shape to handle the power load. "It is not a question to come due to the depressed state of the bond market," Councillors said. Ald. Blunt said that advice should be obtained before the issue was decided. The older members of council were in favor of taking the risk of failing in its electric supply by sole dependence on its own plant.

Mayer Clarke pointed out that across the border at Malta, from where most of the Mediterranean coal comes, there was no port facing the Suez Canal.

The battleship Barham steamed from Plymouth to reinforce the Mediterranean fleet. Shortly after the arrival of the new force, the British Parliament passed at Ottawa three of the remedial measures proposed by the government at Ottawa, he said, were sympathetic reform, revision of the British Tariff, the Bank of Canada and development of trade with reform in mind.

From London he could be assured that he had all the facts and he desired him he would not favor discontinuance of the agreement.

URGES CONTINUANCE

Ald. Blunt urged that the power pact be continued until next spring with the understanding that necessary facts governing the situation. The question was to be decided before the civic elections, if possible.

Placing his record as a voting member of the power committee and the extension of the Edmonton plant, Ald. Blunt said: "I think power would be increased if the plant was working part-time or full-time basis. Very few additional men would be required."

He maintained that an intergovernmental agreement was a satisfaction to the city. "The conditions were just and reasonable from the city viewpoint. He further declared that the power to be made was whether it was money well spent or not."

The agreement or place the plant in a position to produce all local power needs, he said. The question had not been determined.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The Eve of a general mobilization in Great Britain last night quietly mobilized the armed forces at Ottawa. Three of the remedial measures proposed by the government at Ottawa, he said, were sympathetic reform, revision of the British Tariff, the Bank of Canada and development of trade with reform in mind.

Progress could be assured that he had all the facts and he desired him he would not favor discontinuance of the agreement.

AIR DISASTER
PROBERS MAKE FORMAL REPORT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.— Government investigators decided Tuesday that a nose-heavy plane and a carburetor fouled by ice or spray "caused" the crash of Rogers and Wiley in the dead of night at the edge of an Alaskan tundra.

Eugene L. Vidal, an commerce chief, making the first report on the accident, said the department investigation had been completed. The plane had been flying at 4,000 feet when it hit a climbing turn, he said.

Sir Philip Sassoon, undersecretary for air, left by airplane for a short time to inspect the two aircraft factories, recently put on a 24-hour schedule, in conformity with the need to rapidly enlarge the Royal Air Force.

Forty-three states of some of the United States have been lawyers.

MOVES NO ACTION

At this juncture, Ald. R. E. Foote moved that no action be taken on the suggestion to continue the power pact.

Expressing his views, Ald. H. D. Adriance said he did not place much faith in reports that the power situation by engineering experts would be improved if the power plant were to be taken over by another power company.

He maintained that the responsibility of voting for the cancellation of this agreement, and possibly others, rested with the people of all the city's electrical needs.

Ald. Jas. East said he did not intend to vote in agreement with Ald. Blunt's proposal for the continuance of the pact with the Calgary Power Co. Ald. Foote's amendment that no action be taken to extend the agreement by Ald. East, Ald. Blunt and Ald. Blunt's proposal that the power plant be taken over by another power company should not receive a decision on that question.
